Famed Film Festival Adds Creehan's Entrees To Its Entries

Destin, Florida (December 19, 2007) - Celebrity Chef Tim Creehan continues to rack up name droppable clients and frequent flyer miles, this time in Park City, Utah, where he'll premiere his epicurean epics at the prestigious Sundance Film Festival. In conjunction with appliance giants DCS by Fisher & Paykel, the ubiquitous Creehan has been selected Chef de Cuisine for the star studded event's Gibson Guitar, Entertainment Tonight, & Getty Images Hospitality Lodge, an uber-exclusive venue where limelighters gather for the afterparties.

Founded by Robert Redford in 1981, the Sundance Film Festival is the premier showcase for U.S. and international independent film. The event has introduced American audiences to some of the most innovative films of the past two decades, including "American Splendor", "Clerks", "Hustle and Flow", "Maria Full of Grace", "Napoleon Dynamite", "sex, lies and videotape", "Smoke Signals", and "Super Size Me" (source: Sundance.org). The festival runs from Thursday, January 17 – Sunday, January 27, 2008 in and around Park City, Utah.

The legendary event will find Creehan hobnobbing with a crowd of Hollywood A-Listers who require nothing more than last names to recognize: Hanks. Deniro. Willis. Penn. Of course, feeding the famous isn't exactly foreign territory for Creehan, who's spent the better part of his career dishing up delicacies for actors, musicians, supermodels, and a vast array of notable luminaries. For the film festival, the gourmet guru is creating a buzz worthy menu that will simultaneously feature his sponsor DCS by Fisher & Paykel, as well as reflect his years of experience as a successful author, inventor, and restaurateur.
